

ESSLLI 2003

15th European Summer School in Logic,
Language and Information

August 18–29, Vienna

<http://www.logic.at/esslli03/>

---

Each year the European Association for Logic, Language and Information, (FoLLI) organizes a European Summer School (ESSLLI) the main focus of which is the interface between linguistics, logic and computation. Courses at foundational, introductory and advanced level are given, the aim of which is to provide for researchers and postgraduate as well as advanced master students the possibility to familiarize themselves with other areas of research, and to enable students and researchers to acquire more specialized knowledge about topics they are already familiar with. The school also features several workshops, and a student session in which Master and PhD students can present their work.

This year the 15th ESSLLI Summer School will take place at the Technical University of Vienna, the beautiful and cultural capital of Austria. During two weeks 43 courses will be given. They cover a wide variety of topics within the combined areas of interest: Language and Logic, Language and Computation, and Logic and Computation. There will be a series of invited lectures, and several workshops with open calls for papers.

Please, visit our website at <http://www.logic.at/esslli03/> for detailed information.

For information about FoLLI and the previous editions of ESSLLI see <http://www.folli.org/>

Deadline of the early registration: June 15, 2003.

For other information please send an email to: esslli03@logic.at

International Program Committee:

Ivana Kruijff–Korbyova (chair)
Alexander Leitsch (co-chair)
Karen Sparck Jones
Gosse Bouma
Wojciech Buszkowski
Johan Bos
Thomas Eiter
Ian Horrocks

Local Organizing Committee:

Matthias Baaz (chair)
Arnold Beckmann
Agata Ciabattoni
Rosalie Iemhoff
Norbert Preining
Sebastiaan Terwijn